Fire hearth on display at "Real Fires" at Glenfield

Here is a quality fire hearth in a river pebble finish.

This hearth in Parnell keeps its pristine clean lines through years, seasons, and many fires.

Stonex products have been thoroughly tested through BRANZ and other certified organisations for heat tolerances through to scratching and UV resistance. Some performance standards such as flexural strength are exceptional. Specifying or installing Stonex products can be done with confidence and are supported with a ten year guarantee.

Granite and quartz are amongst the hardest stones known to man, and have been selected to deliver superb strength, performance and beauty in both commercial and domestic environments.
